

Padilla Bay

National Estuarine Research Reserve

Located near Anacortes, Washington, this 11,000 acre estuary is at the saltwater edge of the Skagit River Delta. The entire bay empties at low tide to expose mud flats and eelgrass meadow. The Reserve was established in 1980.

Photo by: David Henry

NOVEMBER

"The Narragansett Bay Research Reserve Celebrates 30 years of Research, Education, and Stewardship."

2010

